INTRODUCTION

Over the past 14 years, an International Standard Book Number (ISBN) has become such an expected sight on books published in Canada that it is conspicuous by its absence when it does not appear. This, the seventh edition of the Canadian ISBN Publishers' Directory, lists more than 10 000 Canadian publishers who use ISBN for the books they produce.

It is easy to understand why so many publishers in this country and around the world have adopted ISBN: its value to those in the book trade for identifying, ordering and stocking books is unquestionable. A unique code assigned to a book title, or a particular binding or edition of a title, an ISBN is internationally recognized and offers a convenient and unmistakable means of identifying a book. As well, an ISBN identifies the language in which a book is written, and the name of its publisher.

As part of its commitment to serving those in the Canadian book trade, the National Library of Canada produces the Canadian ISBN Publishers' Directory. An indispensable guide for librarians, booksellers and publishers, this annual publication lists International Standard Book Number (ISBN) publisher prefixes assigned to Canadian publishers by the Canadian ISBN Agency. New assignments of prefixes, name changes, and notices of publishers who have ceased operations are noted in BiblioTech, a serial publication of the National Library of Canada.

Entries in this volume are arranged alphabetically, according to the full corporate name of each publisher. Ceased publishers are included in the alphabetical listing and the numerical index according to publisher prefix. Because of the number and diversity of the publishers included, it is impossible to guarantee the accuracy of the addresses provided. An asterisk has been added beside the names of those publishers for whom no more current address can be found. The Directory reflects Canadian ISBN Agency information and assignments as of December 31, 1988.

INTRODUCTION

Depuis déjà 14 ans, on trouve sur les livres publiés au Canada un numéro international normalisé du livre (ISBN). Ce numéro est devenu tellement familier que si par hasard un numéro n'est pas là, son absence nous saute aux yeux. La septième édition du Répertoire des préfixes ISBN des éditeurs canadiens répertorie plus de 10 000 éditeurs canadiens qui utilisent un numéro ISBN pour les livres qu'ils publient.

C'est assez facile à comprendre pourquoi tant d'éditeurs canadiens et étrangers utilisent l'ISBN: sa valeur pour ceux qui oeuvrent dans le domaine de l'édition est inestimable. En effet, celui-ci sert à identifier et à faciliter l'acquisition de livres, ainsi qu'à établir un stock en librairie. Ce code ISBN unique, assigné au titre ou à une édition particulière d'un livre, est reconnu au niveau international et offre un moyen facile et infaillible d'identifier un livre. L'ISBN identifie aussi la langue dans laquelle le livre est écrit et le nom de la maison d'édition.

Afin de rencontrer ses obligations auprès des éditeurs canadiens, la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada publie le Répertoire des préfixes ISBN des éditeurs canadiens. Un guide indispensable pour les bibliothécaires, les libraires et les éditeurs, cette publication annuelle répertorie les préfixes ISBN (Numéro international normalisé du livre) attribués aux éditeurs canadiens par l'Agence canadienne de l'ISBN. Les nouveaux préfixes, les changements de noms et les avis de cessation d'activité sont annoncés dans BiblioTech, publication bimestrielle de la Bibliothèque nationale du Canada.

Les entrées sont classées par ordre alphabétique selon le nom social complet de chaque éditeur. Les éditeurs qui ont cessé leurs activités sont inclus dans la liste alphabétique et dans l'index numérique d'après le préfixe de chacun. En raison du nombre et de la diversité des éditeurs, il est impossible de garantir l'exactitude des adresses fournies. Un astérisque a été ajouté aux noms des éditeurs dont aucune autre adresse plus récente n'a pu être trouvée. Ce Répertoire s'inspire des renseignements et des attributions de l'Agence canadienne de l'ISBN au 31 décembre 1988.

Le International ISBN Publishers' Directory (ISBN 3-88053-034-3), liste exhaustive des préfixes attribués partout dans le monde, est publié chaque année par l'Agence internationale de l'ISBN, à Berlin.

Les nouveaux éditeurs peuvent demander qu'un préfixe ISBN leur soit attribué en remplissant le formulaire (NL-449) et en l'envoyant à l'Agence canadienne de l'ISBN. Les éditeurs, auxquels on a assigné un ISBN, sont priés de faire parvenir les changements de noms, d'adresses et d'adresses bibliographiques à l'Agence canadienne de l'ISBN.
